

Nutman! Insane Super Hero!

(INTENSE NARRATOR)

Of all the incredible characters in the history of twentieth century crime fighting . . . of all the distinctive personalities that have come and gone since Superman, none was stranger, none's story weirder, none could have been so uniquely bizarre than one man.

And now Brainco, the company that brought you the Glow Dome, is pleased to present . . . The Amazing Adventures of . . .

Nutman! Insane Super Hero!

Yes! Stories from the life and times of America's legendary agent of crime prevention! As if they had really happened!

Once there was a mild and gentle law researcher named Benny O'Blique, who found the injustices of the world . . . well . . . too much for him. One day, while eating a plate of mostacioli in a small restaurant, he suddenly threw his fork into a bowl of meat sauce and sprang to his feet! He let out a wild shriek!

("SWOZZLE," WHISTLE, FROM THE OLD TIME PUNCH AND JUDY PUPPET SHOW.)

He crashed through the big plate glass window of the restaurant and disappeared into the night, laughing and hooting and waving his arms all around.

And thus was born . . . Nutman! Insa-a-a-a-a-a-ne Super Hero!!

And for those of you who think that there might not be much that an Insane Super Hero could do in the way of crime-fighting . . . well, you're probably right.

But such was the gift of Nutman that he was actually able to prevent serious crime, yes, stop it before it took place! Yes, Nutman's super ability was his amazing gift of prediction! He could peer into the future and sense, somehow, when and where a crime or catastrophe was about to take place. Nutman would go to the scene of the crime-to-be and hide. When the criminals made their appearance, he would spring out at them, and draw attention to their activities, shrieking and laughing and waving his arms and carrying on in such a wild and chaotic manner that they would quickly grow uncomfortable with what they were doing and go home.

And soon the crime wave took a nose dive and Nutman was cheered from every sidewalk!

And there we have it Mr. and Mrs. America! Some say he's a hero! Some say he's a pest! But they all agree on one thing!

He's . . . (TAPE OF "ALLE MENSCHEN WURDEN BRUDER" FROM BEETHOVEN'S NINTH SYMPHONY)

NUTMAN! INSA-A-A-A-A-NE SUPER HERO!!